Burger Week is even taking "dog friendly" one step further by encouraging restaurants with patios to offer a special Burger Week Menu just for dogs for $5 each.

Organized by local 501(c)3 non-profit Long Beach Food & Beverage, executive director Terri Henry, who has been organizing culinary events Long Beach for almost a decade, felt that in addition to encouraging local and surrounding "foodies" to enjoy what the expanding Long Beach culinary community has to offer, events like Burger Week support the local economy and put "butts in seats" of our valued restaurants. "We may be past the pandemic stage of COVID, but restaurants are still struggling and the second annual city-wide Long Beach Burger Week will help increase guest counts and sales in August," stated Henry. "And hey, it's summertime and who doesn't love a good burger?"
