

THINGS TO DO

Things to do in Long Beach this weekend including... Rising Japan Music Fest and more nightlife

by Cheantay Jensen

July 19, 2023

The 2022 Rising Japan Music Fest took place at the Silverlakes Sports Complex in Los Angeles. The festival returns but this year to Long Beach on Saturday and Sunday July 22-23. Photo courtesy Rising Japan Music Fest.

The following is a curated roundup of weekend events in Long Beach published every Wednesday on the Hi-lo/Long Beach Post. Have an event to share? Email cheantay@lbpost.com with "Things to Do" in the subject line.

Click here for more information and to purchase tickets, which start at $30.

Shoreline Aquatic Park is at 200 Aquarium Way.

LONG BEACH BURGER WEEK (Sunday)

File photo by Matt Miller.

The annual Long Beach Burger Week, a seven-day affair celebrating the city's creative takes on the tried and true beef-patty-on-a-bun, is returning for a third run on Sunday, July, 23.

Dozens of restaurants across Long Beach will be offering specialty and original burgers ranging from $5-$25, with some also offering burgers for dogs. Long Beach Burger Week will run through July 30.

Click here for the complete list of participating restaurants.

---

© 2023 Pacific Community Media.

Proudly powered by Newspack by Automattic